Build Ops Lead Engineer

Description

Responsible for the design, construction, integration, testing, and support of stable production grade software solutions. Own all aspects of the build and release process. Responsibilities

- Implement CI/CD pipelines for our products
- Experience with building a modern, scalable automated CI/CD injecting in various testing frameworks and tools to ensure the highest quality build artifacts are produced.
-
- Familiarity with deploying to container based architectures, Kafka and/or Java a plus.
- Experience coordinating with others work while involved with multiple work streams.
- Understanding of Java REST APIs and experience working in AWS Environments

Qualifications

- 5+ years experience and demonstrable work products.
- Self starter in a startup environment.
- Experience with creating and maintaining DevOps environments & CI/CD pipelines in Azure DevOps
- Experience with technical operations and software development
- Experience with web application architecture
- Experience incorporating code quality and security tools into the build pipeline
- Understanding of security best practices, server/network hardening and risk mitigation
- Knowledge of web services technologies such as SOAP, HTTP and REST
- Experience in agile development methodologies
- Must possess organizational skills and have the ability to multi-task and prioritize multiple requests and projects
- Experience in automation and orchestration and release management.

US Citizens, GC, EAD (H4, L2), E3 TNvisa holders preferred, NO third party corp to corp accepted for this job.

Date posted

January 5, 2022